

EUGLOH-UPSaclay Research Cooperation Program

Call for Applications

The EUGLOH (European University Alliance for Global Health) is a strategic long-term partnership between the Paris-Saclay University, Lund University, Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität München, University of Porto and the University of Szeged. Within the EUGLOH network, a balanced interfaculty consortium of researchers and students develops interdisciplinary activities particularly in education and training related to Global Health.

The EUGLOH-UPSaclay Research Cooperation Program is established to extend and deepen the collaboration between the Alliance partner universities. It is intended to support and promote innovative research and training across Global Health disciplines and to foster student's and young researchers' mobility within EUGLOH partner universities.

The EUGLOH-UPSaclay Research Cooperation Program supports cooperation projects with a strong potential for institutional impact. Therefore, the submitted projects must be written from the partnership angle, highlighting the impact of planned actions on the development of the cooperation with the partner or the partners universities.

Budget per project: 15 000 € maximum per project:

- Funding will mainly support travels and costs associated with the organization of research and training activities. The program doesn't fund research.
- Each project can combine different types of activities (described below).
- End of funding eligibility: 30th March 2023.
- Participants from the new partner institutions (UiT The Arctic University of Norway, University of Alcalá, University of Hamburg, University of Novi Sad) are welcome to participate in the projects but are not eligible for financial support.
